Childhood sexual abuse prevention month.

"Adults Breaking the Silence

... that perpetuates the silence of child sexual abuse."

Cheryle Gail has been described as a "Force of Nature." Cheryle holds a vision where children are FREE from sexual harm. She is committed to co-creating a world where communication replaces silence, and awareness replaces discomfort and ignorance.

Cheryle has studied and assisted Non-Violent Communication since 2011. She is months from becoming a CNVC trainer. She holds degrees in AA Early Childhood Education from Foothill College in Los Altos, CA, and a BA in Child Development from San Jose State University.

One of Cheryle's greatest accomplishments was cycling across the USA in 1994, with Break the Cycle - The National Ride to Stop Childhood Sexual Abuse.

"May our collective roar become so loud that the world cannot help but listen!"

Brave voices break the cycle of silence that perpetuates childhood sexual abuse. Every adult contributes to the reduction of harm by speaking up. Join the Brave Voices Movement. Use your voice to normalize the conversation.

We at Brave Voices believe not just parents, but all adults – families and our communities – are responsible for ensuring that children have safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments.

Those who harm depend on silence. We want to prove to them that silence is no longer a reality in our world.
